

Line of Defense May training Schedule

May 5 (Sunday) 9a-4p - Defensive Handgun Skills Development - This is a great class to learn how to run your gun efficiently and improve your weapon handling skills. Topics cover include: draw and presentation to target, different types of reloads, malfunction clearing, rapid shots, multiple targets, after action procedures and more. The skills learned in this class will give you greater confidence in your handgun as well as improve the speed and accuracy needed for personal protection. These skills are what is needed for advanced level training. This is not a beginner handgun class, nor is it an expert level class. People of all skills levels can benefit from the skills development and refinement of technique taught in this class.

May 11 (Saturday) 9a-4p - Tactical Use of Cover - The effective use of cover in a gun fight can mean the difference between life and death. In this class students will learn what cover is, techniques to use it effectively, how to shoot from awkward shooting positions and more. This is an advanced-level and moderately physical class. Students will be challenged, but will also work at their own pace and abilities to develop the skills taught.

Sorry, there isn't much lead time on these classes. The price for each class is $125.00, and you can register by simply emailing me at lineofdefensetraining@gmail.com.
